

Job Opening –Software Engineer

About Starfish Associates

Starfish Associates is a leading software company providing communication management solutions for multi-vendor unified communication and contact center platforms for on-premise, cloud-based and hybrid environments.

We provide solutions for automation, self-service and monitoring of communication platforms including Avaya, Cisco, Genesys and Microsoft Skype for Business. Our solutions are tightly integrated with leading IT business applications including ServiceNow, PeopleSoft and Workday.

Starfish automates millions of transactions annually for many of the world's largest enterprises and Fortune 500 companies. Our technology empowers these enterprises to become more agile and respond faster to dynamic conditions.

About the Job

Starfish is seeking a software engineer to work out of our Bridgewater, NJ headquarters. You will be part of a dynamic, growing team developing innovative communication solutions for large/global enterprise customers.

Primary responsibilities for this position include:

- Interaction with customers to capture functional requirements and specifications.
- Application design, development, testing, documentation and deployment.
- Interaction with a team of engineers to leverage and contribute to common components.

Qualifications:

- Must be self-starter, hardworking, team oriented, creative, cooperative, detail oriented and a strong problem solver.
- Knowledge of C# and .NET (any Microsoft certification a big plus).
- Knowledge of Java and Java Script.
- Working knowledge of relational database development and administration, SQL and PostgreSQL experience is a plus.

- Working knowledge of LDAP specifically Microsoft Active Directory.
- Solid understanding of design patterns and best practices.
- Outstanding verbal and written communication skills with experience in interacting with enterprise customers & IT administrators.

We offer a competitive salary, company benefits (health, dental, 401k) along with a performance bonus based on individual and company objectives.

Please send your resume to jobs@starfishassociates.com for immediate consideration.